

APPLAUSE

for CJC's Unsung Heroes

"One who is engaged with the needs of the community is likened to one who engages in the words of Torah-both are meritorious and bring blessing."

--Jerusalem Talmud

Judy Vogel has contributed her time and her professional expertise during many crucial periods of transition at CJC. Whether as chair of our marketing committee, assisting with our Branding efforts, serving on the advisory committee for the cantorial search, or the recent volunteer committee, her ability to break a complicated topic into bite size pieces, listen to different points of view, and discern commonalities while respecting our differences, has been crucial to our ongoing success. Additionally, she has been known to give a drosh during B'Yachad and Chavurah services. When she does, it will be researched and a well thought provoking great discussion. CJC benefits greatly from her hard work, dedication of time and professional expertise.

The volunteer position most time consuming and important to the congregation is serving as President of the congregation. David Glaser volunteered precious time on the board and then as president for two years. His ability to facilitate important discussions, delegate to other congregants and apply his professional expertise in organizational development is an incredible gift. David remains involved with CJC's committee working to educate our community on the life of someone who is transgender. On a lighter side, we hear him drumming away as a member of our Shabbat Shalom Band. We are only the stronger for his generosity of time, professional expertise and concern.

Thank you Judy and David for sharing your talents with us.
